FOREST SERVICE IN EDUCATION COURSE AT SAN DIEGO

Good Advertising and Proper Use of Forests Combined in Lectures in New Mexico Building.

"Don't rock the boat," is no more important as a warning on the water, than, in the woods, is the caution, "He sure your camp fire is out, before leaving."

Many such warnings, along with a host of other vitally important and interesting matter, is presented to visitors to the second floor of the New Mexico building at the Panama-California exposition. There, the excellent system of forest fire protection in force in the Sunshine state, is shown in a most graphic manner by models, charts, transparencies, enlarged photographs, and a comprehensive exhibit of the actual implements used by forest rangers in their work.

This is only one side of the question; the incalculable damage done by the ruthless and unintelligent cutting down of timber, with the consequent erosion of the land during the rainy season, are shown by the same means, and, arranged as a "deadly parallel," are other models, pictures and transparencies, showing conditions where timber-cutting has been done under the practice of better methods of management.

Even visitors from New Mexico are surprised when told by those in charge of the exhibit, that their state has nine national forests with a gross area of about ten million acres, bearing a timber stand of fifteen billion board feet of lumber, together with other forest products.

It is pointed out to the interested listeners that the national forests of New Mexico provide for a permanent lumbering industry; their timber resources, under forest management, are estimated to have a present annual capacity of about eighty billion board feet of lumber, or enough to build 3,000 homes for the people of New Mexico, each year.

Fire is not now the dreaded thing it was, in the New Mexico forests, as, with the present system of look-out towers, trails, and telephone lines, the forest rangers are enabled to detect and reach all fires promptly, and over 90 per cent are extinguished before they have covered ten acres.

Facts, interesting to those who are looking towards New Mexico as their future home, are brought out by the lecturer in this department of the building such as that twelve and a quarter million board feet of standing timber were given to settlers by the government, last year; twenty-two million feet were sold by the government to purchasers; eight and a half million acres of land are administered by the government, to protect irrigation, timber being removed under forestry methods, thousands of acres of potentially agricultural land formerly in the forest reserve (now called national forests) are turned back every year, and made available for entry.

Little knots of earnest persons may be seen during the day, gathered around one or another of the models in the room, probably the most popular one being an idealized section of New Mexico land, on which is shown the activities of cattle and sheep grazing, as well as farming, the land being protected by a watershed administered by the national forest.

Charges combines between employers and labor unions.

(By Evening Herald Special Wire) Washington, May 17.—Walter Drew, chief counsel for the National Erectors' association and representative of operation shop employers, today charged before the industrial relations commission that combinations between employers and labor unions based on the "closed shop" power of the unions had practically barred the building industries of New York, Chicago and other large cities to outside contractors.

"This is the final evil of the closed shop," he said. "It leads to combinations of employers and union labor to swindle the public. With the power of the closed shop behind them, labor unions can combine with employers against other employers."

Commissioner O'Connell questioned Mr. Drew as to open shop conditions in Los Angeles, Cal., where, he said, union men are not allowed to work.

"We are not at all proud of the use of the open shop method in Los Angeles," said Mr. Drew. "The very abuses we complain of in the closed shop we find exemplified in the open shop in Los Angeles. None of us, being human, can stand power without responsibility."

Mr. Drew said he favored the organization of labor and recognized labor's right to bargain collectively. He said conditions would improve if labor would pay "more attention to the plowshare and less to the sword."

BLACK COUNTY MINERS ON STRIKE TO FORCE WAR BONUS PAYMENT

(By Evening Herald Special Wire) London, May 17 (4:25 p. m.)—Some thousands of miners in the Black county went on strike today in consequence of a dispute over the question of a war bonus, according to the Evening News.

The Black county is a name applied to the mining and manufacturing district on the borders of Staffordshire and Warwickshire, England, between Birmingham and Wolverhampton.

Tomorrow is the last day of the big reduction military sale at Hartley's. Don't fail to take advantage of it.

SUPREME COURT TO RULE ON JOURNAL MATTER SOON

Attorney General Submits Ex Parte Statement in Which He Sets Forth Contention Record Not Tamped With.

Santa Fe, N. M., May 17.—Attorney General F. W. Clancy late Saturday afternoon submitted to the supreme court an ex parte statement setting forth a statement by Isidoro Armijo, chief clerk of the senate of the recent legislature, denying the charge that the journal of that body had been tampered with following the conclusion of the session. Mr. Armijo's statement recites that no changes were made in the record sent to Las Vegas and that it was opened by him in the presence of the attorney general after its return from that city. He says that there was then inserted at the end of the record two pages containing the record of the concluding session, which the lieutenant governor refused to sign as presiding officer of the senate and which was signed by E. A. Miera, president pro tem of the senate, who presided after the lieutenant governor had declined further to preside, having declared the senate adjourned sine die.

Attorneys Wade and Crist, representing the petitioners, protested against the submission of this statement to the court; and the court pointed out that it was not considered as evidence.

The court indicates that a decision will be reached within a day or two as to whether or not the court will go into the question of the authenticity of the senate journal.

EXPECT ATTENDANCE OF 300 AT SILVER CITY SUMMER SCHOOL

Silver City, N. M., May 15.—The Silver City normal school spring session is at the beginning of the end. Some of the closing exercises are over, notably literary society annual contests. Contests for the honor of tying the society's colors on the cup for the year.

Parliamentary contests went to the Literary after a struggle which lasted till past midnight.

A Galley o' Fun!

"He who runs may read," but he would better not read out loud if he is running for office.

PREACHING vs. PRACTICE. "Well, well, well! I declare to goodness, John, did you ever hear of such a thing? Goodness gracious me! Law sakes, what's the country comin' to, anyhow? I wouldn't have believed such a thing could happen. It's pretty jolins on they have now! Mercy on 'em, where will this thing end?"

Then she takes the paper, steals off to a quiet spot, and reads the scandal from beginning to end with great glee.

THE BOHEMIAN. He scruples not the midnight oil to burn. For fame he cares not, only for the "dust." And with the proceeds of each storied earn. He goes off on an animated "bust."

A RARE EXCEPTION. "She seems to be lacking in self-confidence." "She is shockingly so! Why she doesn't believe that she can plan a house better than an architect!"

JEWELLED CONSISTENCY. "My way's the best by far," said Smith; "No mine's the best," said Jones. And then they argued long and loud in high, persistent tones.

Smith said he could not be convinced. If Jones should talk all night; And Jones insisted Smith was wrong. And only he was right.

And when they parted each professed to be a fool; And Jones adopted Smith's device, And Smith tried Jones's rule. J. P. Denison.

ITS BEST QUALITY.

Penelope: One thing about an automatic piano is, it doesn't have to be forced to play.

Perceval: And a better thing about it is it can be stopped any time without having its feelings hurt.

HE DIDN'T COME BACK. "Want to get board here for the winter, hey?" said a rural resident to a fastidious young gentleman who had been engaged to teach the winter school in that district. Well, I guess we can "commodate you if you're a mind to just sort o' take things as they come. We don't put on no airs here, we don't. We're just plain, everyday kind of folks, and here, you, Bill, keep your fingers out'n the teacher's pocket; and, Buck, you give him back his watch and chain, or I'll larrup you good!"

"As I was a-sayin', mister, the teacher gin'rally boards here, and—"

"You see, mister, the boys they take turn about, two at a time, a sleepin' with the teachers that board here, and—"

"Bill! I see you pinin' that old rag to the teacher's coat tail. Give him a rap over the head, teacher! Here you, Buck, you just go and tie that bull terrier up agin'! You see, the boys they've got a little trick of settin' our old bull terrier onto all the teachers that board here, and—"

"You bet Buck can't down you two times out'n three in a fair and square rattle? Bet he kin! Shed your coat and try him one. No? Got to be going? Well, you come along and we'll make you right to home!"

AN AWFUL FLIGHT. Mrs. Newed.—I am in a awful fix, mamma.

Mrs. Eaglebeak.—What is the matter?

Mrs. Newed.—I went through George's pockets last night to hunt for change, as you advised me, and I found some letters which I gave him to post last week and now I dare not scold about the letters for fear he'll scold about my going through his pockets.

THE OTHER WAY 'ROUND. Mrs. Sourapite.—When I gave you that solemn warning against marrying I said that some day you would regret it. That time will come, mark my words!

Mrs. Newed.—The time has come, Mrs. Sourapite (gleefully).—I thought so! Then you regret your marriage?

Mrs. Newed.—Oh, no! I regret the warning you gave me. It kept me from marrying for nearly a year.

Will Arbitrate War Bonus Fight. London, May 17.—The government has at last agreed to arbitrate the question of granting a war bonus to postoffice employees, a large number of whom receive wages of less than $7.50 a week.

DUKES START FOR TUCSON ON FIRST ROAD TRIP

No Games in Rio Grande Today; Reed's Sluggers Away Playing Tucson and Phoenix.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS

RIO GRANDE ASSOCIATION.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Albuquerque	10	2	.833
Phoenix	10	4	.714
El Paso	9	4	.692
Las Cruces	4	9	.308
Tucson	4	10	.286
Douglas	2	10	.167

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS. Albuquerque, 9; Las Cruces, 8. Phoenix, 5-5; Tucson, 4-0. El Paso, 9-0; Douglas, 2-4.

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY. No games scheduled.

Not a wheel turns today in the Rio Grande association. The Dukes are speeding to Tucson for a 6-game series, the El Paso Longhorns are heading for Douglas and Phoenix for Las Cruces.

Tomorrow, as the Senators open up at Cruces and the Longhorns tackle the tailenders on their own lot, the Dukes will start a 6-days assault on the Pueblos at Tucson. They will stay in the Old Pueblo until next Sunday, going from there to Phoenix for a 7-game series that will wind up on the 30th with a doubleheader. They will return June 1 to take on El Paso for 6 games.

The Dukes wound up their first home stand yesterday afternoon in a blaze of glory. Going into the ninth inning of a tightly-played game with the score 8 to 4 against them, they smashed out the 5 runs necessary to win in an eleven-hour rally that lifted the fans out of their seats and turned them into a state of howling insanity. Frank Huelsman worked up the chief sensation of the rally when, after Murphy and Humphries had singled in succession, he smashed the ball over the fence. When the two more tallies that were needed were pounded in fans swarmed on the field and almost mobbed the Dukes in their joyousness.

It was a game crammed with interest from the start and the fans let themselves out as thrill followed thrill. An old timer said after the game that it was the most enthusiastic crowd he ever saw in Albuquerque, bar none.

The Dukes go west with a lead of one whole game over Phoenix. If they can hold that lead on the road they will come back with all the earmarks of real pennant chasers. Their ability as a road team remains to be proved.

According to unofficial figures the Dukes are hitting at a frightful rate. Raedel is the only man, outside of the pitching corps, who is hitting under .250. The others range from the mountainous mark of .545 set by Howard Murphy, to .213. No less than 8 of the Dukes are whacking at 300 or better—and 4 of them considerably better. French is hitting .447, Herriott .426 and Zamloch .412.

TODAY'S GAMES. NATIONAL LEAGUE. Postponed—Rain. Brooklyn, May 17.—Brooklyn-Cincinnati game postponed; wet grounds. New York, May 17.—New York-Chicago game postponed; wet grounds.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY. FOR SALE OF TRADE—One 14 passenger Packard, one 8-passenger Ford, just the thing for the Jiney business. Will trade for 2 or 3 passenger touring car or for Albuquerque real estate. Dodson's Garage, 409 North Fourth street.

JUDGE RAYNOLDS OPENS COURT IN GALLUP TODAY

Judge Raynolds of the district court opened the term at Gallup today. McKinley county cases are not numerous and the session at the Carbon City is expected to be brief. Court Clerk Maddison and Interpreter B. Ruppe accompanied the judge to Gallup.

In the district court today judgment in the Alameda election case, giving office to Miguel Trullio, Democratic candidate for justice, and Juan Carabajal, Democratic candidate for constable, was filed. Appeal to the supreme court has been granted to Alfredo Sandoval and Camilo Lucero, the Republican candidates for justice and constable, respectively.

Circuit Snips

Gossip and Dope from Papers in League Cities

Phoenix Republicans. Phoenix hitters are now about to show what they are good for. Of the thirteen men carried on the club, six of them ought to hit above .250 for the season, and possibly some of them over .300. The batters in the order of their predicted power are Lynn, Dowling, Pittman, Demaggio, McArdle, Nutt, Scanlon, Hester. Of course, they are not showing that way now. And also, of course, they may break from form and display an entirely different line up. Of the pitchers, Turner and Hall, who hit pretty well, while McCree, who has trouble with curve balls on account of his eyes will drop below the average.

Tucson Star. Pitcher Andradra of the Tucson squad has been ill of ptomaine poisoning. The Phoenix scriber noted the last day of the series that Frank was bushful with his circus stunts and wondered why. That ptomaine maldy is a goat getter.

Phoenix Gazette. Hoop, who has just been signed by Tucson, played with Venice the last eight or nine years as general utility shortstop and good all around man. He first started pitching for Venice, known at that time as the Vernon team. Dan Rader, another new recruit of the Pueblos, broke in from the Western Tri-State league. He went to Portland and was traded to a southern California aggregation of the Coast league. He is a good infielder.

El Paso Times. Manager McCloskey stated last night that rapid progress was being made in the organization of a stock company for the local team, which will be incorporated, as the El Paso baseball club. At the present time the local pilot is bearing the entire expense of putting the team into the field, and should receive more support from the fans, who have the interests of the city at heart.

The sensational record of three straight games won by the Albuquerque club from the Hurley bunch of Las Cruces, is causing considerable comment here. The victories of the Duke City club are but in line with the predictions of a number of the Douglas players now in the city, however, who stated that the New Mexicans were the most reliable and hard-hitting nine that they have clashed with this season.

El Paso Herald. Douglas has a ball team that will round into form in a few days and then look out. The pitchers have still to get the proper control but are all young and the whole team looks good. With a little encouragement, the Douglas youngsters will win more than half their games. They need a bit of coaxing not prodding, for they are a decent lot of young fellows.

Umpires in the Rio Grande association have been given further instructions regarding the maintenance of order on the ball fields and it will go hard with players who attempt to "ride" the umpires in future.

Bisbee is keen for a franchise in the Rio Grande league and fans there point out that their city is larger than either Las Cruces or Douglas. They would like to buy the Phoenix franchise, players and all, but Phoenix is awakening to the value of organized ball and there's nothing doing. It will be refreshing to the league directors to know that if any club gets wobbly it will be easy to transfer to another city.

El Paso doesn't really mean it when she yells for Albuquerque to cut down the payroll. What she actually desires is a cut in the Dukes' percentage.

Trouble with El Paso are its antecedents and experience. All hicks have to pay out two dollars for every 100 cents worth of fun or value. Pam City thinks we rest under the same curse.

Not us. Our eyes are wide open and we have cut all our wisdom teeth. When we set out to get $1,200 worth of ballplayers we know how to do it without exciting the Hague tribunal, the Interstate Commerce commission or Auburn, N. Y. We can't help exciting El Paso. We wouldn't if we could. We love to see the longhorns rear.

Phoenix, having acquired some percentage herself, isn't a white disturbed over Albuquerque's allitiduous position. It is pleasantly prepared to come out and give us a scrap for the title.

And El Paso isn't frothing at the mouth over the development of the Phoenix bunch. Not a froth. Does someone hint that Phoenix is in "El Paso trade territory"? Toot Toot! What has solid commercial got to do with a bold, untrifled El Paso sport writer?
